Welcome

What Arbitrage Pro does

Point your phone at an item, or paste a link to a listing, and Arbitrage Pro researches it for you. In about a minute you know:

- What it is, who made it and when
- What it actually sells for, from recent sold listings, not hopeful asking prices
- The three best places to sell it, with every fee, shipping and packing cost counted
- How many hours each place takes
- The most you can pay and still make the profit you're after
- A listing written and ready to post for each place

Then it gives you a straight answer: Buy, Offer (with a fair number to offer) or Pass.

A finished check: the verdict, your numbers and the item's details

Two ways to check an item

Quick check	Full report
About 15 seconds, 1 credit	About a minute, 4 more credits
What it is and a rough value	Everything in the list above
Use it to screen a whole table of items	Use it on the finds worth your money

A full report always starts with a quick check. If the item is worth less than your minimum, it stops there so you don't spend the extra credits.

> It's research, not an appraisal. Values are AI estimates from public sales data. Check anything important, especially authenticity, before you buy.

Ideas

Ways to use it

Anywhere something is for sale and you're wondering what it's really worth.

Estate and garage sales

Screen a shelf of glassware or a box of tools with quick checks while the line moves. Save full reports for the pieces that look promising.

Thrift, antique and consignment stores

Spot the mispriced piece. Photograph the price tag too and the app reads the asking price for you.

Facebook Marketplace, eBay and Craigslist

Tap Share on a listing and choose Scan with Arbitrage Pro, or paste the link. Know whether it's worth the drive before you message the seller.

Auctions

Decide your top bid before the lot comes up. Add the auction house's buyer's premium to the asking price you enter.

Flea markets and swap meets

Vendors often price by gut feel. A quick check tells you when the gut was wrong in your favor.

Storage units and box lots

Check the standout pieces before you bid on the whole lot, then decide what the lot is worth to you.

Downsizing and heirlooms

Find out what Grandma's china, Dad's watches or a garage of tools are worth and where each sells best, with the listing written for you.

Before a big purchase

Cars, jewelry, watches, coins and whole collections. See the next pages for how to research the expensive stuff.

Pricing your own sale

Holding a garage or estate sale? Price the good pieces properly instead of guessing, and sell the best ones online instead.

Gifts and collecting

Buying for a collector? Make sure the piece is right and the price is fair before you hand over the money.

Profit

Making money with it

Reselling comes down to one rule: make your profit when you buy. Arbitrage Pro works out the most you can pay so that, after every fee and shipping cost, the sale still hits your target.

Set your target once

In Settings, choose how much you want back for every dollar you spend:

- 1.75× or 2× if you sell in volume and turn items fast
- 3× for a solid flip (the app starts here)
- 5× or 10× if you only want home runs

Also set a rejection minimum (for example $25) so cheap items stop after the quick check, and the value of an hour of your time if you want labor counted.

A vase sells for $85 on Etsy. Fees, shipping and packing come to $10. At a 3× target:

Pay up to $25

The sale covers every selling cost plus three times what you paid.

The routine

1. Screen with quick checks.
2. Research the keepers with a full report.
3. Buy at or under the app's number. If it says Offer, make that offer.
4. List on the place it recommends, using the listing it wrote. Tap Copy and paste.
5. Track it: mark the item Bought, Listed and Sold. The home screen totals what you've spent, sold and earned.

Your items and running totals

Tips from the trade

- Start with what you know. Your eye plus the app beats the app alone.
- Fragile and heavy items cost more to ship. The app counts that, so trust the number.
- Local pickup (Marketplace, Craigslist) avoids shipping but limits buyers.
- Bundle small items into one listing.
- Keep receipts. Profit is taxable income.

Big money

Researching large purchases

Before you spend serious money on a car, a ring, a watch or a collection, run a full report. It shows recent sold prices, the red flags for that kind of item, and what to check before you pay. Then use the checklist for the item and get an expert where the stakes call for it.

Item	Photograph	Check before you buy
Cars, trucks, boats	All four sides, interior, odometer, VIN plate, engine bay, tires, any damage	A history report on the VIN, a test drive, and an inspection by a mechanic you choose. Make sure the title is clean and in the seller's name.
Jewelry	Hallmarks and stamps (use the zoom lens), clasps, stones, any certificates	Have a jeweler test the metal and stones. Lab-grown stones and plated metal are common.
Watches	Dial, case back, serial and reference numbers, the movement if visible, box and papers	Fakes are very good now. Use an independent watchmaker or the brand for an authenticity check on anything expensive.
Coins and currency	Both sides in good light, edges, any grading holder and its label	Raw coins sell for far less than graded ones. Consider PCGS or NGC grading for valuable pieces.
Handbags and designer goods	Logo, stitching, hardware, date codes, interior tags, dust bag	Use a paid authentication service before reselling. Selling a fake is your liability.
Art and antiques	Signature, back of the piece, labels, maker's marks, any damage or repair	Provenance matters. For anything large, a specialist auction house will often give a free estimate.
Collections and lots	Each standout piece separately, plus one overview photo	Value the best pieces and treat the rest as a bonus. Collections often sell for less as a whole than piece by piece.

Negotiating with the report: the comparable sales in your report are real recent sales. Showing a seller what similar items actually sold for is a fair, friendly way to explain your offer.

Installation

Installing Arbitrage Pro

You need: an Android phone or tablet with Android 10 or later, and your invite link or invite code. It takes about two minutes. Installing doesn't use any credits.

1. Open your invite link on your phone.
   It looks like arbitragepro.app/join/ AP-ABCD-2345 . No link? Go to arbitragepro.app/get and keep your invite code handy.

2. Tap Download Arbitrage Pro.
   Your browser may warn that this type of file can harm your device. Tap Download anyway. Every app that doesn't come from the Play Store gets this warning.

3. Open the file.
   Tap Open when the download finishes, or find ArbitragePro in your Downloads.

4. Allow the install, the first time only.
   Android says your phone isn't allowed to install apps from this source. Tap Settings, turn on Allow from this source, then tap the back arrow.

5. Tap Install.
   If Google Play Protect asks to scan the app, tap Scan app, then Install. If it says the app is from an unknown developer, tap More details, then Install anyway.

The page your invite link opens

6 Open the app.
Go back to the invite page and tap Already installed? Open the app. Your invite code is filled in for you. Or open Arbitrage Pro from your home screen and type the code.

7 Tap Continue, then enter your ZIP code.
It's used to find local selling options and prices.

8 Choose your buying target and minimum.
Keep the defaults (3× and $25) if you're not sure. You can change them anytime in Settings.

Updating: when a new version is out, the app shows a card on its home screen. Tap Get the update and install it the same way, over the top. Your saved items and settings stay.

Opened from the invite link, the code is already filled in

If something goes wrong

You see	Do this
Nothing happens after the download	Open your Files or My Files app, go to Downloads and tap ArbitragePro.
"App not installed"	Free up some storage, then try again. If you had an older test version, uninstall it first.
"Invite code wasn't found"	Check the code against your invitation. It looks like AP-XXXX-XXXX.
"Can't reach the Arbitrage Pro server"	Your phone is offline or the signal is weak. Try again on Wi-Fi.

Using it

Your first scan

Tap New scan on the home screen. Add photos with Camera or Gallery, or use Link for an online listing.

Photos that get the best answers

- The whole item on a plain background
- Any maker's mark, label, stamp or signature (use your phone's zoom lens rather than moving in close)
- Serial, model or date codes
- Chips, cracks, stains or damage
- The price tag, if there is one

Add notes such as size, condition or where you found it, and the asking price. Then tap Quick check or Full report.

When the AI isn't sure

It tells you what would help, such as a photo of the base or a measurement. Tap Add photos or details, or choose to run the full report anyway or reject the item.

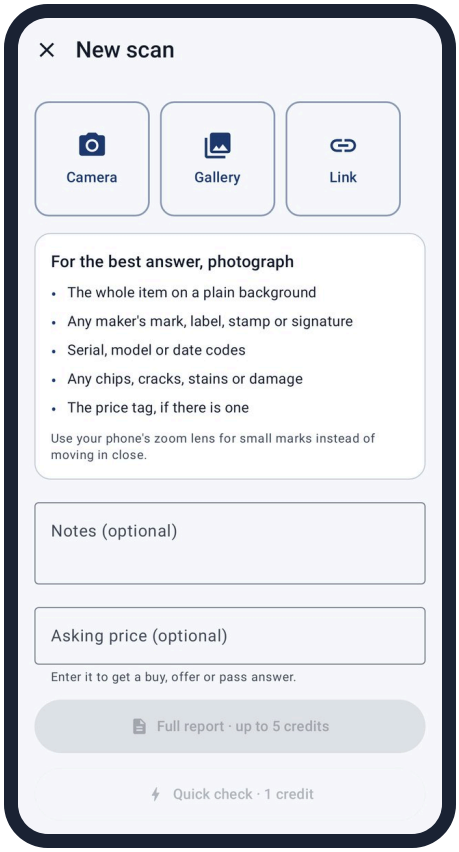

Online listings

Paste a link with Link, or tap Share → Scan with Arbitrage Pro in the eBay, Facebook or browser app. The listing's photos, price and description are filled in for you. Reading a link costs no credits.

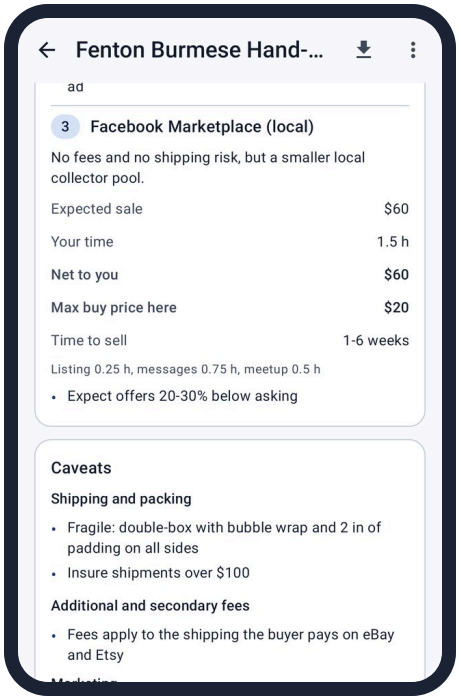

Facebook and eBay open in the app's own browser. If you're asked to log in, do it once there and the app remembers you. Your login stays on your phone. Tap Use this listing when the item is on screen. If a site won't cooperate, take screenshots and share them to Arbitrage Pro.

Saving and sharing reports

Download any full report as a PDF, Word or OpenDocument file and share it like any other file. The listing text has its own Copy buttons.

Camera, Gallery and Link

Each selling option, with fees, time and net

Good to know

Credits, privacy and help

Credits

- A quick check uses 1 credit. A full report uses 4 more, 5 in all.
- Reading a listing link and downloading reports are free.
- If a scan fails, its credits come back automatically.
- Your remaining credits show at the top of the home screen. Ask the person who invited you if you need more.

Your privacy

- We never sell, rent, trade or give away your information. No ads, no trackers.
- Photos are used to research your item and aren't kept on our server afterwards.
- Your saved items stay on your phone.
- The full policy is at arbitragepro.app/privacy.

A few honest limits

- Values are estimates. Markets move, and condition matters more than photos can show.
- No app can tell a fake from photos. Get expensive items checked.
- You need a signal. In a dead spot, take photos with your phone's camera and add them from Gallery later.
- Android only for now. An iPhone version is planned.

Help
